An Automobile for Pioneers at the Sitka Home

Subscription List Is Started in Wrangell—Donations Coming in Freely

Several weeks ago a campaign was started by the Juneau Daily Capital for the purpose of raising funds to buy an automobile to be presented to the old men at the Pioneers' home at Sitka. The entire press of Alaska was invited to assist in this most worthy undertaking.

This week the Sentinel started the campaign in Wrangell. Subscription lists were left in the cigar stores and pool halls and at the hotels. Acknowledgement will be made through the columns of the Sentinel for every dollar subscribed and checks covering each list published will be mailed by the Sentinel direct to the First National Bank of Juneau to the credit of the Pioneer Automobile fund. Acknowledgement of all checks received from Wrangell will be made through the columns of the Juneau Daily Capital. The purchase of an automobile, if it comes from the whole people of Alaska, means but little to any individual. Let every one contribute his mite to this worthy cause.

The following paragraph from a recent issue of the Juneau Capital tells of the movement which is only for the good of the men who have helped to make this country what it is today:

"As was stated at the beginning of this campaign, the Capital has no object in view other than to help in the performance of a worthy act. The Capital believes that the existence of the old men at Sitka is drab, to say the least. It believes that the presentation to them of a car in which they could take short daily rides would prove of untold benefit. It would relieve the monotony of their existence; it would give them something of their own over which they would have absolute control; it would mean a new interest in lives which are almost spent."

The cause is such a worthy one that Mayor Grant interested himself in the matter one day this week by passing around a subscription list. In a very short time he had raised $64.

Following is a list of subscriptions received to date.

Twelve Killed in West Virginia During Night

MATEWAN, West Va.—With 100 deputy sheriffs armed with rifles patrolling the streets and a detachment of the State constabulary expected to arrive at any moment the situation is quiet early today following the killing of 12 persons last night in a battle between citizens and private detectives.

ROME—The Council of League of Nations has decided to select Geneva as the seat of the League Assembly.

SEATTLE, May 13.—Harry A. Bishop, 51 years of age, died here yesterday. He resided in Alaska for many years, having served as United States marshal at Juneau. Four years ago he suffered a severe stroke of paralysis from which he never fully recovered. He is survived by his widow.

SEATTLE—Chief of Police Warren has been relieved by Mayor Caldwell, Captain Wm. H. Searing was appointed chief. Loud and persistent rumors that his brother Sol Warren was mixed up in graft especially as alleged partner of Fank Hall, former Nome gambler, proved too heavy a load for Chief Warren to carry.

WASHINGTON—June fourth has been decided on as the date for the Congressional Recess or adjournment. There is a strong sentiment for a sine die adjournment which would mean that Congress would not come back until December.

Last week the Sentinel published an item of court news which stated that in the case of the Bank of Alaska vs. the Bon Alaska Mining company a judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff. Following the decision of the court a representative of the Bon Alaska Mining company paid over to a representative of the Bank of Alaska in New York City the full sum due the bank, which amounted to more than $8,000. It is known that the Bon Alaska Mining company have liquidated other claims against them in this vicinity. This is considered a sure indication that the Bon Alaska people have no intention of quitting the country. On the contrary it is rumored that they are soon to begin operations on an extensive scale on their property across the channel from Wrangell.

Wrangell's First High School Commencement

Was Interesting Event—Miss Liberty Juanita Worden Alaska's Youngest Graduate

The first High School Commencement in Wrangell was held last Thursday evening in Redmen's Hall, Miss Liberty Worden being the graduate.

The Parent-Teachers' Association gave unsparingly of their time and labor that Miss Worden should have the nicest graduation setting possible for Wrangell to give her. The school boys brought great loads of yellow cedar boughs which were formed into a solid bank at the back and sides of the stage. The class motto was made of red roses on a cedar background. White roses were used at the sides of the stage and in brass bowls, decoratively grouped about the front of the hall. The effect was beautiful beyond description.

A Scholarly Essay
"Modern Chinese Education" was the subject of Miss Worden's graduating essay which was a most scholarly paper. Following is an excerpt from the essay:

China's non-intercourse policy was the root of all their backwardness. Their reverence for antiquity rendered them intolerant of innovation and changes in education. The old system was merely memory and copy work. The most highly prized portion of Chinese literature was embraced in the Five Classics and the Four Books, including mainly the teachings of Confucius. Their influence was not wholly good as it encouraged imitation and discouraged originality. The Chinese school today is far from being an ideal one for the pupils all study aloud, but this will not be for long owing to their rapid progress.

Charles K. Edmunds, President of the Canton Christian College, Canton, China, says that the distinction between the oriental and the occidental lies in the technique, not in the intellectual caliber. The Chinese have a spirit for inaccuracy—they have become used to thinking in tens, as for instance,—"an old man is that of as seventy or eighty years of age, when they know for a certainty that he was only seventy last year. A child of ten or eleven is that of as ten or twenty years old. For greater accuracy than this they do not care except when you are paying them money."

The number of schools and pupils since 1910, has increased three hundred percent. The missionaries deserve the credit for much of their rapid progress. They began with their work in 1807, but now that the government has discouraged them by denying the acknowledgment of titles, degrees and credits of those who have attended mission institutions, they have gone back into the heart of the country to enlighten the people. It has been stated that only five percent of the population can read or write, while less than two percent have mastered the language. The drawback in mastering the language lies in the hieroglyphic alphabet, which consists of over three hundred characters. Their complex language renders it difficult to use modern conveniences, such as a typewriter. Imagine a typewriter with over three hundred characters.

Physical education is being developed since the people have come to realize that "A sound mind in a sound body is a short but full description of a happy state in this world." Vigorous physique was not only undesirable but objectionable. Students and teachers

PARENT-TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION GIVES PARTY TO CHILDREN

The school year came to a close last Friday evening with a party given by the Parent-Teachers' Association in the Redmen lodge rooms. The Moose lodge had kindly given up a regular meeting in order that this hall might be used. An invitation had been extended to the public as well as to the school and the affair was attended by about one hundred and fifty guests beside the various committees.

The hall was beautifully decorated in the flower and colors of the 1920 class, the motto occupying a prominent place at one end. The electroliers were festooned with flowers, and greenery was banked here and there.

A program was enjoyed early in the evening. It consisted of a Swedish Folk dance by girls from the intermediate grades, Virginia and Irene Tozier, Etolin Coulter, Margaret McCormack, Gertrude Carlstrom, Margaret Northrop, Laura Ronning, Gertrude Osborne, Nettie Prescott, Erma Grant and Dorothy and Marjorie Johnson; vocal solos by Mrs. Naud and Mrs. Johnson with Miss Bronson as accompanist; a recitation by Mr. Rowley; an Irish dance by Margaret McCormack that scored a decided hit; a song by Marjorie Johnson accompanied by her sister, Dorothy, and some very clever recitations by primary pupils, Margaret Ottesen, Carl Palmer, Helen Hodges and Gertrude Goodrich, and by little three year old Beatrice Palmer.

At about ten o'clock ice cream, cake and coffee were served in the dining room which was also prettily decorated. Twisted bands of red and white ran from the center floral decoration on the tables to the corners and lighted candles placed at intervals added a festive touch.

The committees responsible for the success of the affair were: Refreshments, Mrs. Benjamin, Mrs. Borge, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Carruthers, and Mrs. Palmer; serving, Mrs. Billon, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. J. G. Grant, Mrs. Case, Mrs. West, Mrs. Pritchett and Miss Billon; ice cream, Mrs. Carlson; coffee, O. Carlson and M. O. Johnson. Two decorating committees had been appointed by Mr. Mitchell, chairman of the social committee of the P. T. A., Mrs. Worden, Mrs. McCormack and Mrs. West for the downstairs, and Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Gartley and Mrs. Gold for the upstairs and these combined forces for the two occasions, the graduation and the party. Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. Borge and Mrs. McCormack had charge of the entertainment features and provided games and other amusements throughout the evening.

CHICAGO—Canada is exhibiting an unneighborly attitude in refusing to ship wood pulp into the United States, it was asserted by Dr. Hugh P. Baker of the American Paper and Pulp association, in an address before delegates to the American Lumber congress.

Much of the session of the congress was spent in consideration of the newsprint shortage. According to Doctor Baker's statistics, newsprint consumption has increased from three pounds per capita in 1880 to 35 pounds in 1920.

The sentiment among the lumbermen generally was that the Government should establish a national forestry policy of conservation and caring for trees furnishing wood pulp.

George Bishop, P. Vogel and E. Ellefson took passage to Ketchikan on the City of Seattle Monday.

Solomon Shakinaw returned home last week from Sitka where he has been attending the Sheldon Jackson school during the past year.

A. Everson and family arrived on the Hazel B. No. 4 Monday from Telegraph Creek where they spent the winter.

A full attendance at the meeting of the American Legion tonight is earnestly requested.

The Ripley Fish company last week made a shipment of 50 boxes of fish on the Spokane and fifty boxes on the Jefferson.

Sentinel Raises Its Subscription To Four Dollars

Beginning June 1 the subscription price of the Sentinel will be advanced to $4 a year. This advance is imperative on account of the exorbitant price of paper.

Several other Alaskan newspapers advanced their subscription price months ago, but the Sentinel held back hoping that there would be a change for the better in the paper market. But instead of the situation improving it has gone from bad to worse until now a paper crisis exists throughout the United States, England and France.

The Sentinel knows of no weekly in Alaska besides the Petersburg Report that is still undertaking to publish at three dollars a year.

Five dollars a year is the subscription price of the McCarthy Weekly News, a much smaller paper than the Sentinel, and one which does not set half as much type as the Sentinel. The McCarthy News sells on the streets for 25 cents.

Five dollars a year is the subscription price of the Hyder Weekly Miner, another paper that sets much less type than the Sentinel.

Ten dollars a year was the price of the Weekly Citizen of Fairbanks when it burned out recently. And even at ten dollars a year the publisher of the Citizen did not consider it a business proposition to reestablish his newspaper while there was a panic in the paper market. Accordingly, he sold his subscription list to his competitor.

Alaskan newspapers are by no means the only ones that have been forced to increase subscription rates. Before the war the subscription price of the Seattle Daily Times was $5 a year. Now the Seattle Times is $18 a year. Throughout the United States most of the metropolitan newspapers have increased their subscription rates from 100 to 400 per cent. If these increases were not justified new papers would spring up with lower subscription rates. But they don't. On the contrary the number of newspapers that have been forced to suspend publication during the past three months breaks all records in the history of journalism in the United States.

Beginning June 1 the Sentinel will charge regular rates for much that has heretofore been published free of charge. This includes cards of thanks, and notices of meetings of the various organizations of the town. Church notices, however, will be published at a reduced rate. We are announcing these changes with the greatest reluctance because we realize that we are not striking at the root of the trouble. No one who pays any attention to the paper market doubts that there is a conspiracy on the part of the paper manufacturers to regulate production and prices. But until the government quits investigating and really does something publishers generally will be compelled to increase their rates or go out of business.

New subscriptions will be received and old subscriptions may be renewed at the old price of $3 until June 1.

The Wrangell School Board has decided to increase the faculty to six teachers next year. Four of them have already been elected. They are as follows: Miss May Crosno, principal; Miss Ann O'Connor, Miss J. O'Connor, and Miss Jessica Don Carlos.

The board has decided upon a ten months' term. There will be 38 weeks of actual teaching, with one week of vacation Christmas and another at Easter.

It is reported that the committee appointed by the council to confer with the school board have decided to report favorably on the building of an addition to the schoolhouse. The addition will be 26x46 and will consist of two rooms separated by folding doors. One room will be used for school and the other for manual training.

Plans Begun for Memorial Day Observance

A number of citizens met in the town hall Monday evening pursuant to a call issued by F. H. Gray for the purpose of taking steps for a proper observance of Memorial Day in Wrangell. On motion Mr. Gray was elected chairman of the meeting and J. W. Pritchett secretary.

Rev. H. P. Corser called attention to the fact that Memorial Day comes on Sunday this year and that the legal holiday would be on Monday. He then made a motion that the Memorial observance in Wrangell be held on Sunday. The motion was seconded by Judge Thomas and carried.

A motion prevailed that the appointment of all committees be left to the chair.

The chairman then appointed the following committees:

Committee on Program—Judge Wm. G. Thomas, chairman, Mayor J. G. Grant, Mrs. M. O. Johnson, Rev. H. P. Corser, Mrs. W. W. McLaughlin, F. E. Bronson.
Committee on Transportation—Mayor J. G. Grant and George H. Barnes.

Committee on Flowers—Mrs. O. A. Brown, Mrs. J. G. Grant, Mrs. O. C. Palmer, and all the children of the town. The homes of the three ladies will be depositories for flowers, and the children will leave their flowers at whichever place is the most convenient.

Leo nard Campbell was appointed a committee of one to confer with the American Legion.

Mr. Gray, who is the only member of the order of Sons of Veterans in Wrangell, stated that he once took an obligation to put forth his efforts each year to see that Memorial Day was properly observed, but that his attitude in this matter had never been influenced by this obligation. He said that every true American feels it his duty to pay homage to those who died to uphold the flag just as much as if they had taken the vows of some organization requiring this sacred observance in honor of the nation's hero dead.

The Sentinel urges that the various committees appointed by Chairman Gray be given the united support of the community. Let Wrangell do her whole duty in conserving the traditions of the day that has become so universal in its appeal—the day when the nation pauses to pay tribute to its beloved hero dead—not the dead of the individual family, but the dead of that greater family which is called the United States of America. Especially since the close of the great world war should there each year be a whole-hearted observance on May 30, because now more people than ever before know the sentiments and sympathies which called into a sacred place in the life of the nation that day which is known as Memorial Day.

Homer Worden of the Wrangell Public School Enters Into Correspondence With a Girl in England.

46 Doods Road,
Reigate,
Surrey, England,
9th December, 1919

Dear Friend,

As this is the first letter I have written to you I thought you would like to know a little about Reigate. It is a fairly sized place and it is a very pleasant place. There is Reigate Hill which lies in between the North Downs. The population of Reigate is about twelve thousand. It is twenty one miles from London and the buses run to and fro. Hoping that we shall both profit by this correspondence.

I remain,
Yours sincerely,
Nellie Hollis.

Wrangell, Alaska,
April 28th, 1920.

Miss Nellie Hollis,
46 Dood Road,
Reigate, Surrey, England.
Dear Friend,

As there are not enough girls in our class some boys have been delegated to answer girls' letters. We hope this will not displease you.

In 1867 the area of the U. S. was greatly extended by the purchase of Alaska from Russia for the sum of seven million, two hundred thousand dollars.

Count Wrangell found and named this island. It is about 36 miles long and varies from three to five miles in width. The town of Wrangell is located near Etolin Bay and is about 750 miles from Seattle. The population is about one thousand. In about the middle of the town is an old Russian Fort.

The last Indian chief that lived here was Chief Shakes. He died about four years ago. He owned a little island at the head of the bay. He had many old curios in his house.

The people here fish, hunt, trap and work in the sawmill. The animals shot and trapped here are mink, weasles, otter, muskrat, wolves, bear, deer, grouse, seals, wolverine, ducks and geese.

The different kinds of trees cut here are cedar, hemlock, spruce, alder, pine, ash, crab apple. The people raise carrots, beets, radishes, turnips, lettuce, potatoer, cabbage, onions and grain.

The kinds of salmon caught here are king salmon, dog salmon, cohoes, sockeyes, humpies and steel heads.

The berries that grow wild here are salmon berries, blue berries, cranberries, huckleberries and loganberries.

The people here raise gooseberries, currants, raspberries, strawberries and blackberries.

The other different kinds of fish are halibut, cod, soles trout, perch, mackerel, skates, bullheads, herring, smelt, and flounders.

There two canneries here, the "Sanitary" and the "A.P.A."

The kinds of shell fish here are shrimp, clams, crabs and gumbots.

It is a very nice here in the summer and in the winter it is not very cold.

Sincerely yours,
HOMER WORDEN.

 Will Visit at Craig and May
 Decide to Locate There

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Judd arrived from Sumner, Washington, last week and left on the Princess Pat Friday for Craig where it is probable that the doctor will engage in the practice of medicine. Dr. Judd has been in the Red Cross service. He recently returned from Siberia, arriving in San Francisco on April 23. For nine months before leaving Siberia the doctor was assistant superintendent of the hospital at Omsk, which is 3,500 miles interior from Vladivostok, and only 150 miles from the Russian front. Omsk was Kolchak's headquarters. The Red Cross hospital at Omsk is of concrete and was built by German prisoners. It is one of the largest and best equipped in Siberia. It will accommodate over 1000 patients. Over 300 German prisoners are used as helpers. The doctor says the Red Cross hospitals are vastly superior to the Russian hospitals and that the Russians themselves fully appreciate this fact, and that a wounded Russian soldier is always anxious to get into an American Red Cross hospital.

Dr. Judd says that the Trans-Siberian railroad has the finest roadbed he has ever seen. It is double tracked all the way except through Manchuria. Women and children work on the section and every defective tie is removed as soon as it is discovered to be unsound and a new one put in its place. But with the rolling stock it is vastly different. Locomotives that are out of commission and derailed cars that are going to ruin are a common sight all along the way. He says one could get some idea of the demoralized traffic conditions from the fact that it took him over three weeks to make the trip by rail from Omsk to Vladivostok.

Dr. Judd says Vladivostok is a city whose population is estimated variously at from five hundred thousand to a million. People die there by the hundreds and thousands without causing the population any alarm whatever. He says the greatest number of deaths are caused by the typhus louse. One bite is sufficient to result in a death. Soon after being bitten the victim becomes unconscious. He may get well and he may die, but death is the usual result.

The doctor says the Wrangell fire department is far superior to the one in Vladivostok. Just before he left there a fire occurred. The fire department hauled the water from the bay to the fire in barrels and then applied the water to the flames by means of a hose and a hand pump.

Dr. Judd visited the West Coast in 1917. He liked the country so well that he decided to pay it another visit. He admitted that it was not improbable that he may decide to locate at Craig and engage in the practice of medicine there.

Mrs. John Nichols, wife of the resident physician at Mooseheart, will arrive in Wrangell on the Princess Mary Saturday for the purpose of investigating the case of the Osborn children whose application for entrance into Mooseheart is pending. A letter received from the supreme secretary states that Mrs. Nichols is an able speaker. An effort will be made to have her deliver an address while here on the work the Order is doing at Mooseheart. It is probable that the local lodge will undertake to secure the Rex Theatre one evening next week, but no definite announcement can be made until after Mrs. Nichols' arrival.

Wrangell's First High School Commencement

errs looked upon physical training as unfit for a man of literary learning.

Normal training is one of the most serious questions confronting education in China today, but now that commissions investigating European and American methods are returning, it will no doubt be remedied. Normal as well as vocational schools have been organized for women. Women are making great progress there—they are coming into their own, after being repressed for centuries.

Funds for the maintenance of education have been used from the following sources: Income from public property, interest from deposits, government appropriations, tuition fees, voluntary contributions, compulsory contributions, and miscellaneous sources of income.

Japan has but forty-nine libraries while China has one hundred and seventy-five. So China, though she may seem slow and has much to hinder her, is showing her colors as well as Japan. We should feel proud of this for the United States' methods are held high in their estimation.

The Valedictory

Miss Worden being the only one in the class it fell to her lot to also deliver the valedictory. It was short but full of meaning. The graduate was not without gratitude to all those who had made graduating exercises possible, and there was an earnestness in her tone that left no doubt as to her sincerity. The valedictory was as follows:

Dear Friends and Schoolmates:

I wonder if you can realize just how proud I am of this privilege of appearing before you tonight and I thank you all sincerely for being interested in the first class to pass out into the world from the Wrangell High School. I acknowledge a debt of gratitude to you as taxpayers. Without you and your generosity in granting the many demands upon you for the where-withal to support our educational home there could hardly be a graduating class.

Parent-Teachers' Association:

I hardly think you can understand just how much I appreciate all you have done in making the first Commencement exercises a success.

Dear Teachers, one and all:

I thank you for pointing out the heights so far above and beyond me. It has often been difficult to fix my aim upon them unwaveringly, but through you I have learned that they are there, and am determined to reach them at last. You have been good to me, better than I have deserved.

Honorable Board of Education:

I thank you for providing us with the necessary equipment. Our splendid building, abundance of apparatus, our most capable teachers, all have made it a pleasure to attain what I have. You have never failed to legislate for my good and I feel that to you, I owe a sincere thanks.

And so, to each and all, I say a heartfelt thank-you.

W. W. McLaughlin, officer in charge of the local cable office, this week received a cable from a U. S. army office which read as follows:

"Four airplanes will start from New York for Nome the first week in July. Desired that you fully inspect landing reported by you in good condition and actually see if such is the case. If not what expense will be necessary to put in good condition. Wire reply as soon as practicable."

Mr. McLaughlin replied to the forgoing stating that he had inspected the proposed landing on the north end of Sergief island at the mouth of the Stikine and could again recommend the same as a temporary landing place for the one trip. He further stated that only minor improvements would be necessary.

Outboard Motors

The Wisconsin Outboard Motor now has an agency in Wrangell. Ed Grigwire has a few on hand for immediate delivery. Call and see them.

Mrs. C. R. Arundel and little four year old son were killed a few days ago in a head-on collision of two passenger trains near Portland, Oregon. Mr. Arundel was Chief of the Alaska field division of the United States Land Office for several years. He was trustee for the Wrangell Townsite.

Miss May Croso and Miss Ann O'Connor left on the City of Seattle last Monday for Seattle where they will spend the greater part of the summer.

The Sentinel this morning received an invitation to the Commencement Day exercises of the University of California. Enclosed with the invitation was the card of Miss Grace M. Wigg of the school of pharmacy.

Dr. Robert E. McCormack of Milwaukee is a new arrival in Wrangell. It is possible that the doctor will locate here and open a dental office.

Dr. E. O. Rowley of Petersburg was in Wrangell last Saturday enroute to Sunny Bay where he was sent by Territorial Health Commissioner Sloan to investigate rumors of small pox at that trolling camp. While in town, Dr. Rowley was asked to diagnose the case of Blind Tom, a native suffering from a contagious disease. Dr. Rowley in reporting his diagnosis to Mayor Grant, confirmed the diagnosis of Dr. S. C. Shurick, local Health Officer.

James Creighton who went up the Stikine last week on an outing trip is believed to have been drowned. Mr. Creighton arrived in Wrangell on May 5 from Pententon, B. C. He had been a fruit grower, and had also been a contractor and builder. This spring he sold out his interests and came north expecting to spend the summer rustivating out in the open. Last week he went up the Stikine stopping in the vicinity of Shakes' cabin. When the Hazel B No. 4 returned from Telegraph Creek on Monday Creighton's boat was found floating in the river. As no trace of Creighton could be found it is believed that he has been drowned.

The Craig saw mill is soon to resume operations. O. P. Brown has taken a three years' lease on the mill with the privilege of buying from the Bank of Alaska. The mill will be considerably enlarged at once. A shipment of new equipment was made on the Redondo which should arrive at Craig this week. It will mean much to the West Coast to have the Craig saw mill in operation. Mr. Brown is an experienced mill man. He was nine years manager of the saw mill and cannery at Petersburg, and later was connected with the Worthen mill at Juneau.

Craig Millar, superintendent for the Swift Arthur Crosby Co., arrived from the States on the City of Seattle Friday. Mr. Millar left on the Princess Pat Friday afternoon for Warm Chuck where the cannery is located.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon D. McDonald on the 25th of April at the family home in Petersburg. The little fellow, the second son, has been named Gordon David, after his father. Mother and son are doing nicely under the care of Dr. Carothers.—Petersburg Report.

Mrs. Ella Johnson returned on the City of Seattle Monday from Juneau where she has been receiving medical attention from Dr. L. P. Dawes at the Government Hospital.
